

ANUBHUTI ENGLISH MEDIUM SCHOOL

 Jalgaon, India

Anubhuti English Medium School was conceived by Bhavarlal H. Jain and instituted in Jalgaon to provide quality English Medium Education to underprivileged children. The school was opened on 11th July, 2011. It started with 180 students in Classes I and II. Today the school has 415 students in class I to IX.

Co-curricular activities of music, dance and fine arts are a regular part of schooling. The school provides nutritious food three times a day. Students are also provided with all clothes, books, educational material and medical attention. Anubhuti Residential School's senior students visit Anubhuti English Medium School to interact with the children. The two groups of children put up entertainment and demos for each other.

This integration of children from different social strata in an educational set-up are mutually beneficial – the positive social and economic ramifications of this would be unfolded years later, as these children grow.

Anubhuti English Medium School provides quality education with facilities comparable to the best schools. The school is about experimental learning, i.e. learning by doing. The concepts are taught, revised, tested and reinforced through activities, educational games, projects, group discussions & field visits. Classrooms have specially designed children friendly furniture. An excellent library stocked with children's books and magazines, a well-equipped computer and science lab are also provided. Co-curricular activities such as music, dance, art, craft and fine arts are a regular part of schooling.

The Anubhuti English Medium School experiment is to investigate whether removal of illiteracy by imparting quality education will remove the greatest obstacle in upward social mobility. We have initiated an educational fair which provides a platform for every aspect of holistic education, academics, arts & crafts, performing arts, sports and most importantly nurtures the young minds to be entrepreneurs i.e. job-creators rather than job-seekers.
